

ICN JOURNAL PRIORITY LIST

2021

UPDATE 06/25/2021

Two journals has been removed of this list after the publication of the new ABS ranking 2021:

- AOM Discoveries is now ABS ranked 3
- Small Group Research ABS ranked 2

METHODOLOGY

To identify other journals not appearing on the CNRS or ABS lists but important in their field of research, a priority list of journals has been produced. Publications in these journals count towards the output requirements associated with each track in the same way as publications in journals on the CNRS or ABS lists.

Each DAP was asked to send a list identifying the priority journals relevant to the main research areas of the department and particularly related to the key themes of the school such as transdisciplinarity, sustainable development, CSR.

Séverine Koehl provided evidence for the academic quality and impact of all journals suggested by the DAP based on the VHB List, SJR Index, Scopus and WoS Ratings, H-Index, Cabell's CCI & DA Index.

On the basis of this evidence, the Research Management Committee (RMC) made acceptance or rejection decisions and decided on the classification or placed titles in "Watch List" (journals of interest to the school but not yet sufficient evidence for academic impact to justify its inclusion). The International Research Advisory Board of the school validated the list in March 2021.

This list is effective from January 2021. After one year, a review of the "Watchlist" reviews will take place.
